HÄFELE

Smoking in enclosed public places has been banned in England since 1st July 2007.

The ban covers virtually all enclosed public places and workplaces including offices, factories, shops, pubs, bars, public transport and work vehicles, but not outdoors or in private homes. The law also means that indoor smoking rooms are no longer allowed.

All smoke-free premises and vehicles need to display no smoking signs that meet the requirements of the new law. Signs should make it clear which premises and vehicles are smoke-free and demonstrate that you are taking the necessary steps to meet the requirements of the new law.
