

Universal tap support bracket

- > A tap support bracket is recommended for large or heavy taps, which may require additional support when fitted to a stainless steel sink
- > Helps to eliminate the problem of 'flexing' which can occur when large taps or taps with flexi-tails are fitted to stainless steel sinks
- > The tap support bracket is installed under the sink and connects the tap to the worktop for extra support
- > The bracket is designed to fit to any model of monobloc tap
- > Suitable for new tap installations and retrofit - can be installed without disconnecting water supply
- > Stainless steel
- > Order qty: 1 pc
